What do the number ratios mean?

The number ratio represents the fill blend – the percentage of down and feather the inner is filled with. The first number always represents the percentage of down, the second is the percentage of feather. The fill blend is the most important factor to consider when choosing a duvet as it determines how warm it will be. The higher the down content the warmer your inner will be as that is the material responsible for generating insulation and warmth.

Do I need a Mattress Protector?

A mattress protector has a number of benefits. They are waterproof so any moisture such as perspiration or a spilt drink won’t make it through to your mattress and damage the comfort layers. Sleepers with allergies or asthma will benefit as dust mites or pet dander won’t get stuck in the mattress fabric. Mattress protectors are thin and won’t change the feel of your mattress, they will just add a layer of protection to ensure it is kept pristine.

Which 100% Cotton Sheets are for me?

You can't go wrong selecting 100% cotton sheets - cotton is a natural, breathable fibre and renewable resource. The difference between each is in the thread count, weave, where the cotton is sourced and ultimately- the way the fabric feels. Which 'type' of cotton sheet you should choose totally comes down to how you sleep and the feel you prefer.

100% Cotton Sateen

Cotton Sateen sheets will generally have a higher thread count and are constructed in a unique satin-like weave which gives the fabric a subtle sheen making them beautifully soft against your skin.

100% Cotton Percale

Percale Cotton will generally have a lower thread count and a lightweight, tight weave. They are very breathable so are the perfect choice for hot sleepers, no matter the season, who prefer a crisp, slightly starched feeling sheet.

Our MM Linen Blake 100% cotton percale sheets are elegantly crafted using the highest quality fabric to create an affordable yet quality sheet. Made from 100% cotton percale, they are the ideal choice for those who like crisp, breathable sheets.

The Seneca Soho range are our hotel quality 100% cotton percale sheets which are conveniently sold as separates.

Both ranges epitomise the nature of the plain tight percale weave – beautifully breathable, with a crisp smooth finish.

Egyptian Cotton

Defined by its softness and lasting durability, Egyptian Cotton sheeting can be constructed in multiple weaves and is named after the region in which the cotton is grown. Genuine Egyptian Cotton is grown on the banks of the Nile and produces cotton that has much longer threads which creates a stronger, lighter fabric.

Our Seneca Egyptian Cotton sheet sets, made from certified premium Egyptian cotton, are among the highest quality available and with proper care, will continue to improve wash after wash. These sheets are made for those that prefer the indulgent, naturally soft, silky lustre Egyptian cotton is famous for.

What does 'Thread Count' mean?

Thread count refers to the number of threads per 10cm square of finished fabric, it also dictates the thickness of a sheet – the higher the thread count, the thicker your sheet will feel. Generally, if you prefer a soft, silky feel you will want a high thread count sheet but if you prefer a crisp, smooth feel a lower thread count or percale sheet will be perfect.

Is the Sheet Depth important?

Mattress depths vary widely so ensure you know this information before purchasing fitted sheets. The right sheet depth will ensure your sheet fits perfectly to your mattress and stays in place with no bunching or moving through the night.

All sheet sets contain: 1x flat sheet, 1x fitted sheet & 2x pillowcases (1x pillowcase in Single & King Single sets). Other sizes are available on request.

How do I choose the right pillow?

Your sleeping position completely dictates the type of pillow you should select as different positions require different types of support but ultimately, a comfortable pillow is supportive and aligns your head and body while you are sleeping.

Stomach Sleepers

Should choose a soft or low profile pillow. This will minimise any arching of your back whilst also ensuring your head and neck are not turned unnaturally.

Back Sleepers

Should choose a medium feeling pillow. It should support the natural curvature of your spine with adequate support under the head, neck and shoulders.

Side Sleepers

Need a firm or high profile pillow. It conforms to the shape of your neck and supports your head in a high enough position to ensure that the spine maintains a straight, natural horizontal line.

MM Down All Round

These feather and down pillows are a high quality, affordable choice and offer a comfort level to suit every type of sleeper ensuring you a blissful and comfortable sleep. The All Round range has a soft, medium and firm option, so no matter what position you sleep in there is a perfect pillow.
